

Mississippi CDL Permit Information

There are three parts to the CDL permit exam, General Knowledge, Air Brakes, and Combination Vehicles, all three parts of the exam will be taken at your local DMV office.

You must have your DOT physical in hand before a CDL learner's permit will be issued, even if you have passed all written tests. The DMV will NOT issue a CDL learner's permit without the medical information. The medical information is attached to your permit\CDL per federal regulations.

A CDL Driver's Manual can be purchased and printed at https://www.ms.gov/dps/manual_purchase/ or you can go to your local DMV for a paper copy.
